

1. Keep the Code in place to allow the upcoming Novice and Technicians to have to learn it just like everyone else did.
2. It seems that everyone is getting something here but the General Class. The Novice/Techs get bumped up to General class allowing them access to HF frequencies with a mere 20 question theory exam, and the Advanced get bumped up to Extra with no additional testing. And yet the General is still going to have to study the theory portion to get bumped up into the Extra portion of the bands. Am I wrong here, but does it look like two of the three classes are getting a "free ride"?

Thank You
